IDs

- Transaction ID → Count the number of transactions per hour, day and month
- Store ID → I'll use it briefly and simply to count the number of stores the business has
- Product ID → I will use it to count the number of products the business sells

Products

- Product Detail → It gives you the product detail and size → To be used to calculate the revenue for each product
- Product Type → It tells you the kind of the product → To be used to group the products by popularity
- Product Category → The products in their categories → I can calculate the revenue per category

Store Location → Identifies which store sales occured → I'll use it to compare sales, transactions and revenue between stores → It'll help me find the best performing store

Transaction Date → Shows when sales/transactions occured → To be used to group by day, week or month → I'll use it to identify sales trends over time

Transaction Time → It shows the exact purchase time → Will help classify sales by time/hour of day → Will help identify peak trading hours

Transaction Qty → Number of units purchased → Calculate total units sold → It'll help identify popular products

Unit price → It tells the price of each item sold → It'll help calculate the product revenue → It'll help identify High value products